1 Definitions

In this policy:

Allocation means the method by which a domain name is created and assigned to an Applicant;

Allocated shall have a corresponding meaning.

Applicant means a natural or legal person, company or organisation in whose name an Application is submitted.

Application means the complete and technically correct request for a domain name, which complies with the Published Policies.

ASCII means the American Standard Code for Information Interchange. ASCII is an encoding scheme based on the ordering of the English alphabet. ASCII is set of common numerical Code Points for computers and other devices that work with text.

Code Point means an assigned code that uniquely identifies a character or glyph in certain languages and scripts. These Code Points are unique numbers for each character, or an aspect of a character such as an accent mark. The Code Points used by the Service are described further in the Unicode standard—please refer to the definition of Unicode for further information.

Customer Registration Agreement means an agreement between a Registrar and a customer.

ICANN means the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers, its successors and assigns.

Published Policies collectively means:

- those specifications and policies established and published from time to time by us or any of our designated representatives; and
- any ICANN Temporary Specifications or Policies and Consensus Policies or any Rights Protection Mechanisms and associated rules, policies, requirements and procedures (as defined in our agreement with ICANN).

Label means a string of characters used to form part of a domain name.

Registrant means a natural or legal person, company or organisation in whose name a domain name is Allocated in the TLD.

Registrar means an entity that is authorised to offer domain name registration services in relation to the TLD.

Registry means the systems used to record, store and maintain details of domain names in the TLD.

Service means the services that we provide in relation to the TLD.

TLD means Top Level Domain and for the purpose of this policy shall mean .abudhabi

Unicode means the single scheme that provides a unique number for each character or glyph across a variety of languages and scripts. The Unicode standard contains tables that list the Code Points for each character identified. The Unicode standard and tables are available at the following link <http://www.unicode.org>.

We, us and our means the Abu Dhabi Systems and Information Centre or our designated representatives.

You and your means the person or entity receiving or accessing the Service.

2 About this document

This document describes our policy regarding acceptable use of the Service.

Document Identifier: AUH-ASCII-POL-002

Status: CURRENT

3 Purpose

Our goal is to ensure the security, stability and fair use of the TLD and our Service for all Internet users.

The purpose of this policy is to describe the acceptable use of the TLD, our Service to you, and what action may be taken by us in the event of unacceptable use.

4 Policy Statement

4.1 Detection of Behaviour that Contravenes this Acceptable Use Policy

Behaviour that contravenes this Acceptable Use Policy may be detected in a number of ways, including but not limited to:

- our on-going monitoring activities and participation in industry information sharing and monitoring groups; or
- third party notifications submitted to us from either the general public, law enforcement, government agencies, regulatory bodies, and industry partners.

4.2 Your Obligations when Using the Service

As a user of our Service, you agree that you will not use, and you will not permit others to use, the Service we provide in contravention of this or any of the Published Policies.

4.2.1 Lawful Use

You agree that you will not use the Service, and you will not facilitate or permit others to use the Service:

- 1 for any unlawful, invasive, infringing, defamatory or fraudulent purpose;
- 2 in a manner inconsistent with any applicable laws, or to engage in, promote or encourage illegal activity;
- 3 in violation of the legal rights of others, or to encourage such violation;
- 4 in contravention of moral, cultural, social values as determined by us in our absolute discretion from time to time; or
- 5 in contravention of any guidelines, requirements or policies that may be issued by us from time to time.

4.2.2 Registration Policy

Our Registration Policy sets out, amongst other things:

- 1 the eligibility requirements for registering a domain name in the TLD and the required criteria for domain name registration;
- 2 the technical requirements for the composition of a domain name;
- 3 what domain names may be reserved or restricted by us;
- 4 our policy on domain name pricing;
- 5 information about a domain name that is displayed publically in the WHOIS Service; and
- 6 how the Zone File for the TLD may be accessed.

You agree that you will not make an application for, attempt to register, or register a domain name in contravention of in contravention of the Registration Policy or any of the Published Policies.

4.2.3 Malicious Behaviour

You agree that you will not use the Service, and you will not facilitate or permit others to use the Service:

- 7 to purposefully distribute any virus, worm, corrupted file, harmful computer code, or other items of a destructive or deceptive nature;
- 8 to modify, affect, disable or circumvent any aspect of the Services or the use of the Services;
- 9 to generate, distribute, or facilitate unsolicited mass email, promotions, advertisements or other solicitations;
- 10 to disrupt the Service or any third party service that may use the Service; or
- 11 to alter, steal, corrupt, disable, destroy, trespass or violate any security or encryption of any computer file, database or network.

4.2.4 Use and Content

You agree that you will not use the Service, and you will not facilitate or permit others to use the Service:

- 12 in a manner inconsistent with the mission and purpose of the TLD as determined by us at our sole and absolute discretion;
- 13 in a manner inconsistent with the laws and the moral and cultural values of the Emirate of Abu Dhabi and the United Arab Emirates; or
- 14 to generate, distribute, or facilitate content, information or services that:
 - a infringe on the rights of third parties;
 - b are illegal, immoral, or unlawful; or
 - c are libellous, contain threats or incites violence towards individuals or entities, or violates the privacy of any third party .

We provide the Registry Service in relation to the TLD. No other party may create domain names at any level in the TLD, for the purpose of sale, licensing, sub-letting or leasing of the domain name. The Registrant of a domain name, as recorded in the Registry Service, will be responsible for:

- 15 the use of the domain name;
- 16 ensuring that the use of the domain name, where that domain name is a two letter Label that corresponds to a country code described in the ISO 3166-1 alpha-2 standard, avoids confusion with the corresponding country code;
- 17 any domain names that may be created at a level subordinate to that domain name; and
- 18 compliance with this Acceptable Use Policy and any of the published Policies.

4.3 Violations of this Acceptable Use Policy

Where you believe that this Acceptable Use Policy has been violated, you may report such violation to us directly.

We maintain a dedicated email address for reporting of activities that you believe may violate this Acceptable Use Policy, which can be found at the following link: <http://nic.abudhabi/>.

Investigations into alleged violations and any resultant actions taken by us will be done so in our sole and absolute discretion.

4.4 Penalties and Actions we may take

Should we, in our sole and absolute discretion, determine that you have failed to comply with any provision of this Acceptable Use Policy, you acknowledge that we may:

- restrict, suspend or terminate your access to the Service;
- where your use of the Service is in relation to your Allocation of a domain name, cancel, lock, place on hold, transfer or delete the domain name;
- where required to do so, report such failure to comply to any law enforcement, government or quasi-governmental agencies, or regulatory bodies; and
- notify industry information sharing and monitoring groups.

We reserve the right take any action on any domain name or transaction that we deem necessary, in our sole and absolute discretion:

- to protect the integrity and stability of the Service;
- to comply with our obligations to ICANN;
- to comply with any applicable laws, government rules or requirements, requests of law enforcement, or in compliance with any dispute resolution policies or process;
- to avoid any liability, civil or criminal, on our part, as well as our affiliates, subsidiaries, officers, directors, employees and subcontractors;
- to ensure compliance with the Published Policies;
- to stop or prevent any violations of any terms and conditions of the Customer Registration Agreement;
- for the non-payment to us of any fee; or
- to correct mistakes made by us, any Registrar or any of our service providers in connection with an Application for a domain name, or a domain name.

Any action that we may make in relation to this Acceptable Use Policy:

- may be taken with or without notification to you; and
- is in addition to any other rights that we may have in law.

We are not required to give reasons for action taken as per the above but may do so from time to time where we deem it appropriate at our absolute discretion

5 Definition and Review

This document has been prepared and published to represent our policy regarding the administrative and technical management of the TLD.

All domain names in the TLD are subject to the Published Policies. It is your responsibility to ensure that you read and understand these policies as they apply to you. We may discontinue or amend any part or the whole of this policy from time to time at our absolute discretion.

Further policy and procedure in relation to the TLD can be found at the following link:
